

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

SoundVision Technologies expands it's range into Australia & New Zealand with Jay Vee Technologies.

Hurricane, UT, 6/14/2023 – Soundvision Technologies, the parent company of TruAudio and VSSL, a global leader of premium turn-key audio solutions, has recently announced its distribution partnership with Jay Vee Technologies to expand its presence in the Australian & New Zealand market.

TruAudio and VSSL provide world-class professional audio solutions. Designed in the USA, they represent the absolute best-in-class experience for home & commercial audio users. Soundvision's goal in its partnership with Jay Vee Technologies is to leverage their channel partner relationships, impressive training and support models, while providing an industry-leading product set that is not only unique and extremely easy to use, but is also well priced.

"We're incredibly excited to be partnering with Jay Vee Technologies" - says Trevor Woodbury, VP of Sales. "We have been thoroughly impressed with Jay Vee Technologies' understanding of the AV and Home Automation industry and their customer service mentality has been apparent throughout this process. We're fully confident that we will grow our SoundVision brands together in the Australian Market while bringing the best service and latest technology to the AV and Home Automation space."

John Vandenberghe said:

We are very pleased to include TruAudio in our product lineup. We can now offer our customers a well-rounded range of exceptional loudspeakers. Ranging from a wide array of outdoor speakers, to in ceiling speakers and hidden in-wall speakers and a 100-volt line, TruAudio cover all bases in the integrated audio space.
